

Visa Information and Resources

Some DePaul study abroad programs require students to obtain student visas. On this page, you will find links to where you can find relevant information about visas organized by country. The best source of information for entry and visa requirements is at the local consulate or embassy of your host country. Local consulates and embassies provide the most up-to-date visa requirements for students who are planning to study abroad. If your program requires you to obtain a visa, it is your responsibility to contact the host country's local consulate or embassy for up-to-date instructions on how to obtain a visa.

Please be aware if you plan on traveling before or after your program dates, you may be restricted by entry and/or exit requirements of the country. Please contact your Study Abroad Advisor before you book your flights in order to discuss pre- or post-program travel plans.

IMPORTANT NOTE: The information below is a summary of the requirements for various countries. Visa requirements can be quite detailed and governments can change visa rules, costs and regulations very quickly. It is the student's responsibility to verify the most accurate and up-to-date visa information of the host country. The Study Abroad Program will update this website periodically to reflect changes and updates.

This webpage was last updated on: 03/01/2017

Special Note for non-U.S. Citizens:

If you are an international student/non-U.S. citizen, please also contact International Student and Scholar Services at iss@depaul.edu in order to ensure that you understand any requirements. We encourage you to work closely with your ISSS and Study Abroad Advisors, as well as the Embassies or Consulates, to ensure that you have the proper documentation to allow you to exit and re-enter the United States for your academic program. Green Card Holders / Permanent Residents should contact the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services office in the Department of Homeland Security in order to determine the best course of action in preparing for a study abroad program.

Please note that visa information is most applicable to term-long study abroad programs. For short-term study abroad programs, please contact the Program Manager listed on specific program web pages for more information.

Typical visa application materials	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Two completed and signed visa application form • A passport or similar travel document valid for more than 15 months. In some countries it's required for the passport to be no more than 10 years old, and have two empty consecutive pages facing each other. • 2 recent passport photos (signed on the back) • Language form in (French, Dutch, or German); to indicate your language preferences. The option you choose will be used by the Belgian Home Office to communicate its decision regarding your visa application. There is no English version. Please retain a copy for your records. (No need to notarize) • Proof that you have sufficient financial income or support for the duration of your stay. This must cover your healthcare, living, study and accommodation costs as well as the cost of your return ticket. This can be in the form of a certificate stating you have received a grant or scholarship, an agreement of financial responsibility from your sponsor, or your personal bank statement showing sufficient funds. Signer must sign and date the financial support and join a notarized copy of his/her driver's license • A medical certificate stating you don't carry any diseases that may endanger public health (such as TB, diseases that require quarantine and other infectious diseases) as well as two copies. If you choose your family physician, the doctor's signature needs to be notarized by a notary public. The document must then be authenticated by apostille, which is to be obtained from the Secretary of State where the notary public has his/her office. • A nationwide criminal history record (FBI identification record) dated within six months of your date of application for the visa. Please provide one original and two copies. • Upon arrival in Belgium, you must register yourself with the City Hall of your place of residence in Belgium within 8 days of your arrival. • Students will most likely need to mail their visa application to an Embassy or Consulate General, in New York City or Washington, D.C. Student visa requirements for Belgium also include proof of your student status and study plans. For this, you may need: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Proof of registration at a recognized higher education institution in Belgium (must cover a full-time course of study, suggesting that the candidate's main activity in Belgium is studying) • Application for an equivalence certificate for a diploma or certificate conferred abroad (only required for French Community education) • Original and certified copy of your diploma, certificate or baccalaureate from your secondary education, and the academic record from your last year of secondary education • Copy of all diplomas and certificates obtained since the end of your secondary education • An employer's statement underlining the necessary for you to pursue higher education as part of your work (more likely to apply to postgraduate students) • Documentation giving a brief description of the courses organized by your institution of choice, with a short explanation comparing those courses to courses organized in your country of origin -additional materials may be required depending on the office processing your application
Processing Time	-6-8 Weeks
Estimated Cost	For a Schengen Long Stay Type D Visa, the Application fee is approximately $216 (must be paid in Euros);
Additional Information	No visa required for a stay less than 90 days, internship or not. If students plan to travel before or after the program and their stay exceeds 90 days in total, they will need to obtain a visa for Schengen long term stay BEFORE arrival. Students are to apply for the visa on their own but will need the acceptance letter from the Leuven Institute. Note: Because Leuven Institute is not a recognized institution in Belgium (it is an Irish Institution); students will need to submit the police record during the visa application. Obtaining the police records can take months. Students in the past have used an organization called Accurate Biometrics to obtain their police records and FBI Background checks more quickly (approximately within 72 hours).
